CHINAHEIGHTS.COM

All City stems from an innate desire to become familiar with one's surroundings, building knowledge & awareness through observation of the patterns & rhythms that constitute our daily lives. With ever increasing rates of re-development, this mission has taken on a new found sense of urgency & realisation.

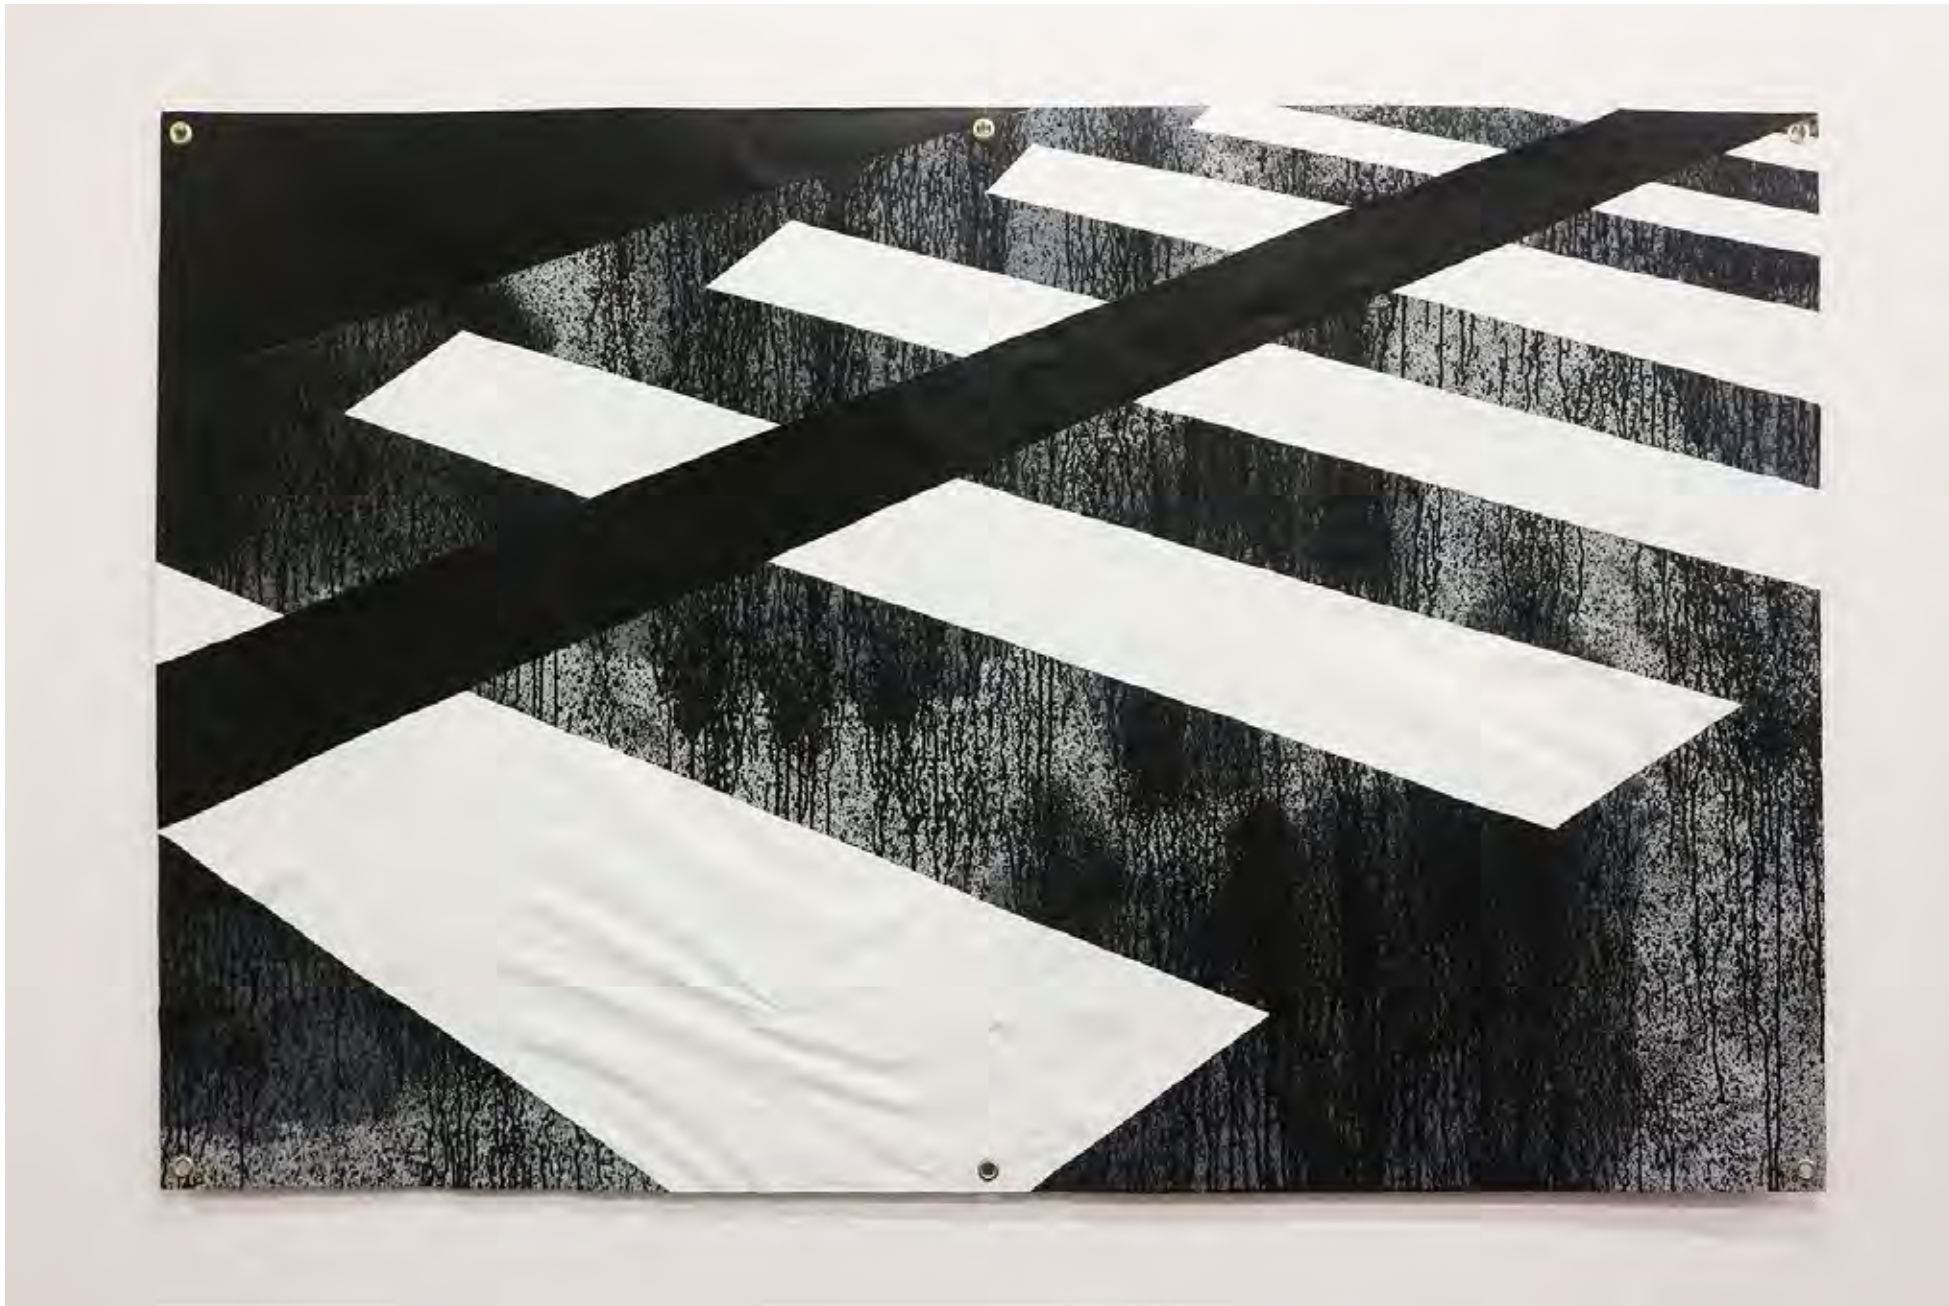

The work consists of a series of reactions to the currently chaotic state in which seemingly steadfast locations have been reduced to mere fragments of their former selves.

Whilst not arguing against concept of change, these pieces aim to question the context of change and how this may affect an individual's perspective on a situation.
